

Statement by Trade Center Management Associates

As manager of the International Trade Center and Ronald Reagan Building, TCMA always takes judicious steps to determine whether criteria is met before finalizing an event contract. Our GSA contract policies state that unless there is a security threat by an organization or individual who requests meeting space, the building is available for rental.

TCMA does not always share the views held by its clients but as managers of a federal government building, we also cannot prohibit rental of this space based on political or religious beliefs.
